NEW SKI LAUNCHES FOR THE UPCOMING WINTER SEASON

Travel

As the long-awaited 2022/2023 winter ski season approaches, we round up some of the best new ski destinations. From a new slope-side restaurant in Meribel and two ultra-luxe new chalets in Courcheval 1850 and Megeve, to the reopening of Japan's resorts following the ease of restrictions, this season is set to be bigger than ever.

LE COUCOU REOPENS IN MERIBEL

Maisons Pariente's Hotel Le Coucou will be reopening its doors for the winter season on 9th December 2022 with exciting upgrades to the food offering, including a new alpine restaurant, Le Fumoir. Located in the cosy eaves of the hotel, Le Fumoir will seat up to 16 guests, serving a delicious selection of mountain favourites from raclette and fondues, to tartiflette and smoked meat dishes. New dishes are set to enhance the already mouthwatering menu's at the BeefBar and the Italian Bianceneve. Also new for the season, guests can expect a whole new host of spa experiences from mother-daughter and father-son treatments alongside the organic brand Minois to tailored treatments for mothers-to-be and men to ensure a rejuvenating alpine break for all. The hotel's indoor and outdoor pool, six massage treatment rooms with specialist treatments from Tata Harper and sauna area offer guests a deeply relaxing experience after a long day of skiing. The pool areas, divided by a bay window create a stunning, trompe-l'oeil effect with views of the striking vista outdoors. Your alpine haven in the heart of the Three Valleys awaits. Nightly rates at Hotel Le Coucou from £440.

A HOME AWAY FROM HOME IN THE FRENCH ALPS

Oliver's Travels has an incredible selection of chalets in France, from Val D'Isere to Courcheval. For an extravagant alpine stay in the French Alps, Chalet Jour, offers a stunning slope side base perfect for a large family or perhaps even two families. The cosy accommdation offers five exceptional bedroom suites, sleeping up to ten guests. After a long day skiing, guests can wind down in the brilliant home cinema room with sumptuous sofas, a huge screen, an excellent choice of movies and channels and Playstation. The swimming pool is always a massive hit with families. Oliver's Travels has plans to increase its portfolio up to 200 ski chalets in France – watch this space! Weekly rates start from £14,639.
