

Kane's penalty miss ends World Cup dream but England are...

LIONHEARTED UNTIL THE END

SEE PAGES 8, 9 AND SPORT

As couple reveal wedding night photos to plug their next Netflix bombshells...

HARRY AND MEGHAN ARE TOLD: STAY AWAY FROM CORONATION

A COALITION of political grandees, senior military figures and respected historians last night urged the Duke and Duchess of Sussex to stay away from next year's Coronation following the fallout from their incendiary Netflix series. Amid a chorus of highly regarded

ROYAL EXCLUSIVE

By Kate Mansley and Chris Hastings

voices calling on Harry and Meghan to stay at home, one former Cabinet Minister said the couple 'categorically should not be' at Westminster Abbey when Charles is crowned on May 6.

The intervention comes days after the first episodes of the series included Harry's claims of 'unconscious bias' regarding race in the Royal Family; an inflammatory description of the

Turn to Page 2 >>

FIRST DANCE: Harry and Meghan in new TV series trailer

From a swanky Caribbean beach shack to decadent glamour in Paris, Sarah Turner reveals the best openings abroad next year

The new hotels spreading GLEE IN 2023

ACROSS the globe, dozens of exciting new hotels are ready to welcome guests in 2023. Luxury is a buzzword no matter the budget, and cities – particularly Paris and Milan – are having a moment. Here SARAH TURNER picks her best from the Alps, Athens and Australia to Majorca, Mexico and Tangier.

WHEN the first dump of snow arrives in the Alps, a pair of Swiss charmers will be ready and waiting for both skiers and apres-skiers alike.

Faern Arosa Altein, in Graubunden, and Faern Crans-Montana, in Valais, both have indoor and outdoor pools if you would rather swim than ski, and speakeasy-inspired bars if you'd prefer to while away the hours over a cocktail.

The interiors may be 1970s-inspired, but don't expect cheesy. Instead, the decor is elegant and unstuffy, with wood and rich leathers, the perfect setting to enjoy the all-day dining and take in the views.

Both hotels allow you to ski directly from the door. In summer they offer a great hiking base for those who would rather not swelter by the Med. B&B doubles cost from £365 per night (faernresorts.com).

If you would rather swap the slopes for a stroll along the Seine, springtime in Paris sees the opening of the Hotel Dame des Arts, a homage to the French new wave of film-makers in the 1950s.

Situated on the bohemian Left Bank – naturellement – inside you'll find a 1950s-inspired restaurant and bar plus 109 rooms. Spread over eight floors, the hotel offers spectacular views over the City of Light.

Head to the rooftop bar, where a DJ will provide the soundtrack while you sip bespoke cocktails and enjoy views that could be the backdrop to your very own film noir. B&B doubles cost from £330 per night (damedesarts.com/en).

Across the river, in an authentic Le Marais mansion, Le Grand Mazarin will immerse guests in classic Gallic glam. Interior designer Martin Brudnizki shows off plenty of wit in his reimagining of a Parisian literary salon, complete with bold prints, eclectic art and sumptuous fabrics. B&B doubles cost from £560 per night (legrandmazarin.com).

For those who enjoy French wine but seek more of an escapist retreat, head to the Como Hotel Montrachet in Burgundy. On the edge of the beautiful village of Burgundy Montrachet, this chateau allows budding wine experts to dive into vineyards while also enjoying the hotel's luxury wellness treatments and sculptural pools (como-hotels.com).

In Italy, Bulgari – that most Italian of jewellery brands – is soon to showcase its glamour in a new Rome hotel.

A 1930s building in the decidedly chic Campo Marzio neighbourhood, the hotel

DIVE IN: The Ikos Odicia in Corfu, left, has ten pools and the Med to choose from. Above: A computer image of sister hotel Ikos Porto Petro in Majorca, due to open in June

GLASS ACT: The Bellustar, left, boasts floor-to-ceiling views over Tokyo. Top left: Le Grand Mazarin's interiors were inspired by classic Parisian design

